Item 7.01 Regulation FD Disclosure

Portland General Electric (PGE or the Company) is responding to the global outbreak of the novel coronavirus (COVID-19) and the resulting impact on the communities it serves, supply chains, and the regional economy by enhancing its business continuity plan, which is designed to ensure the safety of the public and employees while the Company continues to provide critical service to its customers. In addition to directing employees to work from home when appropriate, the Company has implemented safeguards for employees who play critical roles to ensure operational reliability and established protocols for employees who interact directly with the public. The Company has enacted extra physical and cyber-security measures to safeguard systems in order to serve operational needs, including those of its remote workforce, and to ensure uninterrupted service to customers.

The Company also recognizes that many of its customers are facing financial hardships and other challenges. To help mitigate the impact of the pandemic on customers, the Company has taken a number of steps to support its customers and communities, including suspending disconnections and late fees during the crisis, while partnering with local non-profits to stabilize the impacts on small businesses and low-income residential customers.

The Company will continue to evolve its business continuity plan to follow guidance from the Center for Disease Control and the Oregon Health Authority.

Item 8.01 Other Events.

The following risk factor should be read in conjunction with the risk factors described in “Item 1A. Risk Factors” on the Company’s Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2019.

The spread of the novel coronavirus COVID-19 could have a material adverse effect on PGE’s business.

The global coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic has adversely impacted economic activity and conditions worldwide. Measures to control the spread of COVID-19 have affected the demand for the products and services of many businesses in PGE’s service territory and disrupted supply chains around the world. The full scope and extent of the impacts of COVID-19 on the Company’s operations are unknown. PGE continues to monitor the impacts of the pandemic on its workforce, liquidity, capital markets, reliability, cybersecurity, customers, suppliers, and macroeconomic conditions and cannot predict whether COVID-19 will have a material impact on its business. However, a protracted slowdown of broad sectors of the economy, changes in demand for commodities, or significant changes in legislation or regulatory policy to address the pandemic could result in reduced demand for electricity in PGE’s region, increased late or uncollectible customer payments, and the inability of the Company’s contractors, suppliers and other business partners to fulfill their contractual obligations, any of which could have a material adverse effect on the Company’s results of operations, financial condition and cash flows.
